

An electronic version of the paper in English should be submitted to the Organizing Committee of the International Seminar of Ecology - 2020 on the following address: Seminar of Ecology@hotmail.com.

The manuscripts will be peer-reviewed by 2 or 3 independent reviewers. Final decision will be send to the corresponding author. The authors of the accepted manuscripts will be notified whether their manuscript fall into the scope of “Ecologia Balcanica” or “Phytologia Balcanica” where it will pass second peer-review process if the authors agree to submit their work in the proposed scientific journal.

Submission of a manuscript implies: that the work described has not been published previously (except in the form of an abstract, or as part of a published lecture, or thesis); that it is not under consideration for publication anywhere else.

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

Language: The manuscripts must be written in correct English. Spelling should be British or American English and should be consistent throughout the text. All abbreviations and acronyms should be defined at first mention. To facilitate reader comprehension, abbreviations should be used sparingly.

Technical information: Submissions must be in electronic version only, as well as the original figures and tables, implemented in the text. The manuscript text should be prepared in .doc/.docx format, justified, font size 12, font “Times New Roman”, on A4 (210 x 297 mm) paper, with margins of exactly 2.5 cm on each side. Pages and lines should not be numbered. The manuscripts should conform to the following format:

Title: Provide a title that is concise, but also an informative synthesis of the study. Where appropriate, include family or higher taxon.

Author(s): Full first name(s), middle initials and surname(s) in bold italic.

The corresponding author should be marked with the *-symbol. Affiliation(s) with postal address: As complete as possible. Affiliation should be given in the following order – University (Institute), Faculty, Department, postal address, city, COUNTRY (in capital letters). E-mail address is given only for the corresponding author!

Abstract: Maximum length 250 words. The abstract should state briefly the objective of the research, the primary results and major conclusions, with no description of methods, discussions, references and abbreviations.

Key words: Usually 3–10 words suitable for information-retrieval system.

The standard order of sections should be: Abstract, Key words, Introduction, Material and Methods, Results, Discussion (or Results and Discussion), Conclusions, Acknowledgements (optional) and References.

Tables: The tables must not repeat information already presented in the figures or in the text. Each table must be self-explanatory and as simple as possible. Tables must be numbered consecutively. They should be placed within the text at the desired position by the author(s). They must have brief, concise titles and legends that will make the general meaning of the table comprehensible. The titles should be placed at the top of the tables. All abbreviations must be explained in the legends.

Illustrations: They are photographs, graphs, drawings, diagrams, maps, schemes and must be sharp and of high quality. They should be designated as figures (abbreviations: Fig., Figs) and numbered with Arabic numerals (e.g. Fig. 1).

Nomenclature and units: Follow internationally accepted rules and conventions: use the International system of units (SI).

Citations and References:

In-text citations: In-text references must be included following the use of a quote or paraphrase taken from another piece of work. Direct copy-paste from another source is not acceptable! In-text citations are citations within the main body of the text and refer to direct quote or paraphrase. They correspond to a reference in the main reference list. These citations include the surname of the author and date of publication only. For example: Smith (2017) states... Or ... (Smith, 2017). In case of two authors: the surname of both authors is stated with an ampersand between. For example: Smith &Smith (2017) state... Or ... (Smith & Smith, 2017). In case of three or more authors add „et al.“ after the first author’s surname: Smith et al. (2017) state... Or ... (Smith et al., 2017).

References.

- Please follow the APA bibliographic style

- Only published or accepted for publication articles should be included.
- The authors must verify all entries against original sources.
- Citations should be listed in alphabetical order by the first author's surname. Single-author titles precede multi-authored titles by the same senior author, regardless of date.
- Works by the same author(s) should be listed chronologically, beginning with earliest date of publication. No dashes for repeated author's names. Use "a", "b", "c" etc. for works published by the same author(s) in the same year.
- "In press" citation must be accepted for publication and the name of the journal or publisher must be included in the References.
- Titles of papers in languages other than English, German, French or Italian should be translated into English and their original language denoted in brackets, e.g. (in Bulgarian).
